Edgely Miss Is Wed To Hulmeville Resident

HULMEVILLE, Aug. 30.—With the Rev. Louis E. Fifer, 3d, vicar of Grace Episcopal Church, officiating, the marriage of Miss Esther Charlotte Locke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Locke, Edgely, to Mr. Walter Allen Keen, son of Mrs. Joseph Keen, Trenton avenue, took place last evening at eight o'clock in Grace Church.

Entering the edifice with her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was attended by Miss Ida Hampton, Buckley street, Bristol; with Mr. William Wolfe, Philadelphia, serving as groomsmen.

The bridal march from Lohengrin was played by organist, Mrs. Harry Friedrich, of Langhorne, who also accompanied the vocalist for the occasion, Mrs. Louis E. Fifer, 3d, who sang "Oh Promise Me," and the wedding hymn "The Voice O'er Eden."

A handsome bridal gown of white marquisette was worn over a satin foundation, the gown having a lengthy train. The upper puffed section of the long detachable sleeves featured wide bands of lace, the yoke and waistline also being enhanced with lace. The gown, which buttoned down the back, had a V-neckline. With this the former Miss Locke wore a wreath of orange blossoms which held a long veil of net. Her sandals were of white doecskin, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Hampton, the maid of honor, was attired in a floor-length gown of blue figured marquisette over blue satin. The neckline was sweetheart style, and short sleeves were puffed. On either side of the shoulder appeared clusters of artificial pink rosebuds. Over a cluster of blue flowers worn on her hair, was a shoulder-length veil of matching blue. Her slippers were silver toned, and she carried pink roses.

Mrs. Locke, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Keen, mother of the groom, were both attired in blue ensembles, each wearing a corsage of white asters.

At the Locke residence later in the evening, 50 guests were received by the newly-weds. The two are now sojourning at Cape May, N. J., for several days. The bride travelled in a suit of navy blue, navy blue felt hat with trim of white, navy accessories, and she wore a corsage of white asters.

The bride and groom will reside in Emile. To her attendant, Mrs. Keen presented a heart-style locket in the form of a pin; and Mr. Keen gave to Mr. Wolfe a gold belt buckle and tie clasp.

ICELAND DEFENSES ARE KEPT SECRET

Book Stores Have Been Sold Out of Maps and Will Not Have Any More

CANNOT SELL THEM NOW

(This is the sixth in a series of reports by Walter Kiernan, International News Service staff correspondent, who travelled to Iceland, the furthestmost north outpost of the United States armed forces, with a naval convoy.)

By Walter Kiernan
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 18 (delayed)—British and American defenses in Iceland are secret and apt to remain that way.

Somehow the Icelandic book stores have been cleaned out of maps and the store keeper will tell you that he does not expect any more.

"I could not sell a visitor a map even if I had one," she says frowning slightly.

Somehow the only picture postcards available are sharp and distinct if they happen to be of Greatfjokull, the 7,000 foot high volcano, or Hekla, Katla and Askja, the country's three other famous volcanoes, or the giant Gullfoss water fall or geyser which spurts hot water 160 feet in the air. If they are views of Reykjavik harbor or the town of Akureyri they are certain to be brown and indistinct.

British efficiency has taken care of maps and pictures.

Native pro-Nazis or Fifth Columnists can get a good picture of naval movements from any of the hills and mountains which comprise Iceland and look down over her coasts, but wire fences hold spectators at considerable distance from the quay where ships are unloaded, and it is next to impossible to get close to a military camp.

Taxi drivers, even when shown proper credentials, will stop their vehicles at least 100 yards from a sentry and refuse to budge another inch and the sentries are often at considerable distance.

His successor has not been named as yet.

Execute Eight Men

Vichy, Aug. 30.—Execution of eight men, including a French naval lieutenant-commander and a Dutch businessman on charges of espionage and anti-German Communist demonstrations was announced in Paris today.

The lieutenant-commander, Count Henri Dornes, had returned to France after serving for a time in the "Free French" forces, it was announced. He was one of three of the condemned men who were accused of espionage.

The latest executions, carried out by firing squads, brought to 11 the number of executed since red-haired Paul Colette attempted to assassinate former Vice-Premier Laval and editor Marcel Deat.

At his latest questioning by authorities, Colette declared—

"I acted alone. I wanted to defend my ideals and suppress the rising French collaborationism with Germany. I could not do better than shoot Laval and Deat."

It was expected Colette would be brought to trial in Paris today. Since he has already confessed, it was generally expected he will be guillotined. He said he had purchased his six-shooter revolver in Algeria when travelling there.

PLANNING SYSTEM OF AIR-RAID WARNINGS

State Council of Defense Will Name 60 Chief Air-Raid Wardens

TO PROTECT ALL STATE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 30.—(INS)—A system of signals to warn citizens and police and firemen of impending enemy air raids in eastern Pennsylvania is being set up to implement the Army's aircraft observation system already being organized, the State Council of Defense announced.

Under the warning plan, chief air raid wardens will be appointed in 60 key areas throughout the eastern part of the state to receive warning flashes from observation "filter centers" and pass on the warning by siren, radio or telephone to fire companies, utilities, police chiefs, hospitals, defense industries, and other vital points within their area.

Each chief air raid warden will be linked to the filter centers at Philadelphia, Scranton and Harrisburg by special telephone boxes that will flash warnings in four colors, the color indicating the probable number of minutes before the planes will reach their area.

The State Council of Defense will organize the civilian warning system through the county and local councils of defense in each area. The Army has charge of the 1200 outdoor observation posts now being set up by war veterans in the state and of sending the warnings through filter centers to each area. From that time it is up to the civilian wardens and deputies to warn the population.

The civilian warning system is to be ready for operation by September 15th. Organization of the same service for western Pennsylvania will be started shortly.

"Food and Food Values" was discussed by Mrs. Albert E. Macklin, who said the most economical buying is not always the cheapest in price. She recommended buying good, substantial food, including milk and cooked and raw vegetables. Meat, she said, is also a necessity for the person who works hard.

Clara Johnson gave a talk on "The Thrifty Use of Time." She spoke of time as being lent to man to be spent in good service. People, said Miss Johnson, cannot be too diligent in the use of time.

SCHOOLS IN COUNTY TO OPEN ON SCHEDULE

No Reason To Postpone Openings Due To Infantile Paralysis

RUMORS CIRCULATED

So far there has been no reason to postpone the opening of any schools in Bucks County due to the infantile paralysis outbreak in a nearby county, according to Charles H. Boehm, superintendent of Bucks County public schools.

Mr. Boehm made it clear that the local school directors do have the full authority to close the schools, or not open them according to schedule, if an emergency exists.

"The County Superintendent's office is attempting to quiet the rumors concerning the delayed opening of various schools in the county," Mr. Boehm asserted.

"If I knew that closing the schools would prevent one case of infantile paralysis in Bucks county, I would do it in a moment. Dr. Hassel told me yesterday," County Superintendent Boehm said.

Blaze at Trenton Does $500,000 Damage

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 30.—Trenton's worst fire in years reduced to charred ruins yesterday the A. K. Leuckel & Company millwork building, 621-623 South Broad street, and almost totally destroyed the interior of the adjoining millwork structure of the Wilson & Stokes Company. A tentative estimate placed the damage in excess of $500,000.

An employee of the Leuckel firm saved his life by jumping out of the second-story window. His fall was heroically broken by a fireman.

A number of firemen suffered smoke and heat burns and were given first aid treatment at the scene. None was affected seriously.

Four alarms were turned in as the conflagration, starting at the rear of the Leuckel building, grew in intensity despite the efforts of scores of firefighters. The blaze was discovered at 4.20 p. m. and upon the arrival of the first apparatus the entire structure was shrouded in heavy smoke, which prevented firemen from tackling the blaze at close range.

The Wilson & Stokes building did not catch fire until almost an hour later.

Both structures contained large quantities of finished millwork, the Leuckel building containing in addition hundreds of gallons of paints.

TULLYTOWN SCHOOLS TO OPEN TUESDAY MORNING

New Principal Not Yet Named; Only One Change To Be Made In Faculty

SAME BUS SCHEDULE

TULLYTOWN, Aug. 30.—No successor has been named as yet by Tullytown board of school directors, for principal George Zarr, who has resigned his post in the local schools to teach industrial arts at Langhorne-Middletown school.

The board has under consideration some applicants for the position, but no definite decision has yet been reached.

There are no other changes in the Tullytown faculty. Mrs. George Colville will return to teach grades five and six; Miss Elsie Ettenger, grades three and four; and Mrs. Chester Bloomfield, grades one and two.

The opening date is Tuesday next, that being a half session; with full sessions commencing on Wednesday.

Both of the school buildings are being painted inside; and a thorough cleaning has been given all rooms. The water supply system has been re-piped.

The buses which transport students from Tullytown to the Falls Township high school will maintain the same schedule as last term. Enrollment is expected to be approximately the same as the 1940-41 term.

Quite A "Toe-Hold"

(By "The Stroller")
A resident of the sixth ward, while visiting Bristol friends at their summer home in Ottsville recently, had an occasion to going swimming—a pastime not on his schedule for that day.

While looking down a well on the place, the man's glasses fell from his face, splashing in the water. He assured his host that he must have them as he could not see to do many things minus the second pair of "eyes."

A ladder was procured and lowered into the well, and the owner of the glasses descended. Using his toes as "grappling irons," he finally retrieved the glasses, unbroken, from the bottom of the well.

BENSALEM SCHOOL FACULTY TO HAVE SEVERAL CHANGES

Half-Day Sessions Are Scheduled To Get Underway Wednesday Morning

LIST NEW TEACHERS

High School Enrollment To Be Approximately Ten Less Than Last Year

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 30.—Several changes are noted in the personnel of the Bensalem Township public schools, which will open for the 1941-42 sessions on Wednesday morning next at 8.50 o'clock, for half-day session, full sessions commencing on Thursday.

The superintendent of the township schools, A. Kurtz King, announces that examinations for those who had summer studies, or who were absent because of quarantine, will be held on Wednesday afternoon.

The enrollment will be approximately 10 less in the high school than last year, this being due mainly to the fact that ninth grade students from Bristol Township will not be attending Bensalem high.

Among the new teachers for the term are: Miss Thelma Miller, who will succeed Mrs. Doris Wright Foster as school nurse, the latter having resigned.

Norwood S. Wetherhold will teach physical education and will coach athletics in the place of George Reimer.

Miss Ruth Gillespie will substitute as commercial teacher for John Slav-

KEEP IT AS IT IS

For more than half a century, one day has been dedicated in this country to celebration of progress in recognition of the rights and privileges of labor. The idea was slow of acceptance at first, but gradually its benefits were realized and one state after another conformed until Labor Day observance became nation-wide.

If the programs of Labor Day celebrations during the fifty years were reviewed, they would show almost constant improvement in the position of the American worker. Industrial progress has lessened the hardships of wage earners. Conditions in industry safeguarding the lives and health of workers have been introduced. In general, there has been a continuous tendency fostering the co-operative spirit between employers and workers.

Labor Day this year, as in other years, will be an occasion for sports and festivities. But those who think seriously will be inspired with gratitude. In this country, workers are not marched to their jobs by a dictator's command. Here it still is true that free enterprise encourages improvement and the worker is free to seek the kind of employment he believes will best promote his interest.

In this country, equality of rights and privileges still prevails and all are on common ground in exercise of their duties as citizens, voters and judges of the conduct of their government.

These are fitting thoughts on Labor Day, 1941, and their logical conclusion is a great determination to keep America as it is today, the land of the free.

RESOLVE TO BE CAREFUL

A double holiday is a double danger. Every year there is a big addition to the accident figures when the Labor Day accounting is made. Everybody reads them with regret.

The forward is better than the backward look. No more gruesome experience is needed to warn anyone. No one old enough to read can say he doesn't know of traffic perils. Why not take thought now to do everything possible to avoid traffic accidents during the coming holiday week-end?

Are the car and driver all right? Can the trip be planned to avoid the worst traffic jams? Has sufficient common sense been cultivated now to do the things that most commonly cause accidents. Everyone should know what they are: Speeding, driving while under the influence of drink; passing on a hill; cutting in and out of traffic. Thousands of warnings contained in accounts of accidents should cause every driver to resolve in advance to be careful.

THREE FOODS

Few people will conclude that Lord Beaverbrook, recently in Washington, missed by a wide margin when he recited to newspaper reporters the order in which his countrymen, with rations becoming shorter, rate important victuals.

First, according to Beaverbrook, the dieting English would like more bacon. Next they would like more beef, followed by more cheese.

Britishers try to create the impression that they are more addicted to beef than their American cousins, and while that claim cannot be substantiated, the Englishman does stow away huge quantities of it in normal times.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)

Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

Our Father God, as Thou didst find the highest expression of Thyself on earth in the person of a Man of labor, a carpenter, so teach us the duty and the dignity of labor. May we early discover that only in the best performance of every task which is ours can we find true happiness and peace of mind. And may those of our fellows who toil with their hands that we may be comfortable and protected, ever receive our brotherly affection and our sincere good-will. In the Name of Jesus. Amen.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

The immortal Will Rogers is brought back to the screen of the Bristol Theatre in one of his greatest hits "The County Chairman."

On the same bill is a real thriller, "Chinese Den" with Paul Lukas and Jane Baxter.

"Pirates on Horseback" and "Sunset in Wyoming" are other features during the holidays at the Bristol.

GRAND THEATRE

Vicente Blasco Ibanez' famous novel, "Blood and Sand" comes to the screen of the Grand Theatre on Sunday amidst a blaze of Technicolor reflecting the tempestuous stirring Spanish life that was magnificent while it lasted.

This film, starring Tyrone Power, owes much of its thrilling spectacle, its panorama of color, and unforgettable scenery to the fact that Director Rouben Mamoulian took a troupe of 300 actors and technicians to Mexico City where a good part of the picture was made.

It was the first time in years that an entire troupe trekked out of the United States for foreign locales. But it was necessary. An authentic Spanish background was needed for this story of the humble, hungry urchin who became his country's greatest hero, only to succumb to the wiles of a beautiful temptress.

RITZ THEATRE

Joan Crawford's famous remark, "I'd play Wallace Beery's grandmother if it was a good part," sums up the attitude of Hollywood stars today. And the good roles are coming thick and fast. No longer can the stars complain of what is known as "type casting."

Joan Crawford has more often than any other film luminary played the role of the poor girl who becomes a great lady. Her newest film, "A Woman's Face," coming today to the Ritz Theatre, is a psychological melodrama entirely different from anything she has done before.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing for International News Service

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Alexis Smith wins first prize in an easy walkway this week with her self-designed gown of Russian inspiration. Alexis chose a midnight blue wool jersey draped high at the neck and with diagonal fullness in the skirt. Sleeves are long and fitted while a very wide belt is embroidered in ruby red wool. Her sentimental wrap, as part of the costume, is in ruby red wool embroidered with midnight blue. This wrap, so very new, is actually a cape resembling the Russian tunic in 1200. Alexis initiated the ensemble at the San Diego premiere of "Dr. Bomber" in which she is the one and only love interest for a bevy of men.

Barbara Stanwyck, who frequently entertains at the Coconut Grove, her favorite spot, one night wore the season's sweetest version of the popular Grecian gown. Of China blue chiffon it was styled with extremely décolleté front and back and girdled with a wide, wide belt of short white beads fringes that twinkled and glistened as Barbara danced. Miss Stanwyck seemed to be showing her contempt for the current "short hair" mode too. Hers was shoulder length and brushed softly back from her ears to show diamond and aquamarine earrings.

Another on our "best-dressed" list is Joan Fontaine. Joan took her husband, Brian Aherne, to his first baseball game at the Hollywood Ball Park and for this extra special occasion wore a red, white and green print jacket dress showing a pepper tree berry and leaf design. Joan's pumps were green calf. So was her bag. And her hat was trimmed with red pepper berries in as smart a match between print and hat as we've seen yet.

Early morning breakfasters at a little wayside inn out our way have been getting quite a thrill lately. Olivia de Havilland perches on a stool each early morn for her hot cakes and bacon before reporting to the studio. My spies tell me she is always "dressed" and not "trousered" like most girls are these days who don't slacks first thing. Olivia has a preference for simple, white jersey shirt-makers with bright and crazy belts. One belt, and for that reason she's numbered among my satellites this week, is made of huge blocks of crazy quilting laced up the front in dirdi style and matched in a purse of knitting bag size. Olivia is usually seen carrying these large bags because she is constantly knitting something or other.

Miss Stanwyck seemed to be showing her contempt for the current "short hair" mode too. Hers was shoulder length and brushed softly back from her ears to show diamond and aquamarine earrings.

Another on our "best-dressed" list is Joan Fontaine. Joan took her husband, Brian Aherne, to his first baseball game at the Hollywood Ball Park and for this extra special occasion wore a red, white and green print jacket dress showing a pepper tree berry and leaf design. Joan's pumps were green calf. So was her bag. And her hat was trimmed with red pepper berries in as smart a match between print and hat as we've seen yet.

Not for twenty years has the average man had the opportunity to save as much money as now.

You have a job, steady wages, an increase now and then.

Will this go on forever, or as long as you live, or until you are too old to work?

If there is any dependence to be had in the experience of nations for hundreds of years the answer to this question is NO.

And the answer to your worry about being out of work in the future is to save money now while you have a job.

MANY GRID STARS ANSWER CALL OF U. S. AND ENTER SERVICE

Nebraska's Rose Bowl Huskers of '41 and University of Texas To Be Affected

HUSKERS LOSE 27 MEN

Minnesota, Favored to Win Big Ten Conference, Loses But Two Men

(Note: This is the last of a series of two articles on how the draft and defense program will affect the college football season.)

By Jack Mahon
I. N. S. Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(INS)—The call to colors issued by Uncle Sam has been answered by thousands of football stars from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Northwest to the Gulf but, with two exceptions, no one section will be seriously hurt this season. The exceptions are Nebraska's Rose Bowl Huskers of '41 and the University of Texas, favorites to win the Southwestern conference crown.

The Cornhuskers, riddled already by the graduation of 13 better-men who played against Stanford in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, have lost 14 members of this year's squad to their favorite uncle. Heading the list is Eddie Schwartzkopf, the watch charm guard, and Willard Bunker, star end. The remainder were mostly last year's reserves, but considered vitally important in the moulding of another crack grid machine.

Down in Texas and Arkansas, the hotbed of the southwestern conference, most of the teams have fared O. K. so far but the coaches open each morning's mail with trembling fingers. Texas, which shaped up as the best team in the loop on paper, has lost centers J. W. "Red" Goodwin and David Thayer to the Air Corps while guard Charley Jungmichel and end Jess Hawthorne have joined the Infantry.

The worst loss of all, however, will be Cowboy Jack Crain, star back Crain, an all-America candidate, got his questionnaire Aug. 23. Three others are also in danger of swapping their shoulder pads for a gun.

Elsewhere, in the big ten, the South and on the West Coast the booming of national defense guns will have no recoil—except perhaps at the box-office. Minnesota, favored to win the Big Ten Conference, loses but two men, Fred Vant Hull, star tackle and Ralph Lundeen, reserve end; Northwestern has lost none yet while Michigan has given up only Jack Butler to the Army Air Corps. Purdue and Illinois haven't lost anyone while Ohio State has lost two men, and Iowa, Indiana and Wisconsin one each.

Notre Dame has lost only one regular, Steve Bagarus, a star back who enlisted.

In the big six conference, Oklahoma is almost as bad off as Nebraska. The highly-regarded soomers have lost 6 men through enlistment, including Olin Keith, Tommy Tall Chief and Harvey Stone and have 17 other men on the eligible list.

This conference also has lost three coaches to the Army—Lt. Col. Harold Browne and Capt. Harold Petz, Nebraska's chief scout and end coach, and coach, respectively—and Lt. Houston Betty, Missouri, line coach.

60 Red Warships Sunk

Berlin, Aug. 30—In a veritable death blow to Russia's Baltic fleet, the German navy and air force have sunk 60 Red warships and crippled 54 more in operations connected with the fall of Tallinn and Baltic port on the Estonian coast, Chancellor Hitler's field headquarters asserted today.

Another Soviet "debacle" is taking shape at Leningrad, German authorities said, as German reinforcements rushed to aid the troops hammering at the northern Russian stronghold.

Mines blocking the Gulf of Finland, incessant attacks by the Luftwaffe, and shelling by German naval artillery blasted the Soviet fleet in the Baltic, and escape for the remainder now is cut off, according to Nazi GHQ.

Two Russian destroyers, nine minesweepers, and three patrol boats were sunk by German mine operations in the Gulf of Finland, a communique said. It added:

"The Luftwaffe sank one Soviet cruiser and two destroyers. Twenty-one transport vessels totalling 48,200 tons were sunk in German mining operations. The Luftwaffe sank in addition 22 Soviet merchant ships, chiefly used as transport vessels, aggregating 74,000 tons. German mining operations in the Gulf of Finland heavily damaged two Soviet destroyers and the one effective September 1, represent total annual savings to customers of more than $20,000,000.

All the 114 ships sunk or damaged were caught trying to flee from Revel for Komsomol or Leningrad, the German communique added.

All classes of electric customers are benefited by the new schedules—residence customers saving in excess of $1,250,000, the smaller commercial and industrial users obtaining about $1,970,000, and the larger commercial and industrial customers slightly more than $635,000 annually.

The following tables will illustrate, by comparison, the old and new rates affecting the residential classifications in the company's suburban territory:

New Rates

First 10 kwh—75c (minimum)
Next 28 kwh @ 4.8c per kwh
Next 42 kwh @ 2.8c per kwh
Over 99 kwh @ 1.9c per kwh

Present Rates

First 10 kwh—75c (minimum)
Next 42 kwh @ 5c per kwh
Next 42 kwh @ 3c per kwh
Over 94 kwh @ 2c per kwh

In referring to increasingly widespread use of electric service as one of the factors which lead to lower rates, Mr. Liversidge cited the fact that "the average residential consumption has now reached the impressive figure of 1114 kilowatt hours per year as against 575 in 1930."

Illustrating the downward rate trend, he stated that "as late as 1925 the residential customer paid an average rate of 7½ cents per kilowatt hour whereas the present average rate has dropped to slightly less than 3½ cents—despite mounting taxes and higher price levels for materials and equipment necessary to the maintenance of modern operating standards."

"This latest reduction of $4,000,000 annually will still further lower the average domestic rate, thus permitting an even more expanded use of our service for household needs without a corresponding drain upon the family budget. More specifically, the new rates mean that electric appliances in the home will do their labor-saving jobs for less money."

"Business and industry likewise will share substantially in the rate reduction benefits, helping to place them in a more favorable competitive position than ever before."

"I believe that our customers will have every reason to welcome the lower energy costs which the new schedules make possible—especially at this particular time, when so many commodities vital to their needs are being subjected to steadily rising prices," Mr. Liversidge concluded.

Iceland Defenses Are Kept Secret

distance from a camp entry.

The most friendly Briton has been here for "sometime" when asked and "really doesn't know" how much longer he will remain. Neither does he know what British units are here other than his own.

Troops, whether enlisted men or officers, of our own forces, are just as close-lipped. They see nothing, hear nothing, tell nothing.

The departure of our convoy from Iceland was as secret as the departure from the United States. Leaving our own shores we knew neither destination, nor route, until far at sea. The first indication of leaving Iceland was the abrupt cancellation of shore liberty and five days at sea we still were in the dark as to whether we were headed for New Foundland or some home port.

No responsible officer of either British or American forces will hazard even a guess as to the strength of their military or naval arm in Iceland—the naval officers even claim to be ignorant of what or who the supply and transport ships in their convoys carry.

The only guess to strength is the large number of camps, the numbers of naval ships in the harbors and their apparent capacity.

It is apparent also that it would be a difficult task to rout Iceland's protectors for defense measures have been established in all strategic points.

So peaceful Iceland—the Ultima

Thule or Land's End of early history—is prepared for war—prepared in spite of the fact that she has no army, no navy, no stomach for a fight which can bring her much misery and little joy.

But misery has been the lot of Iceland at many periods down through the years since the Norwegian, Ingolfur Arnarson, followed the Irish monks to Iceland in 871 and cynically named the island after seeing clouds of steam rising from its hot springs.

Twice, the population almost has been wiped out, in 1402 by the black plague and in 1783 by a volcanic eruption which continued for seven months. Volcanic dust in that eruption laid waste fields in Scotland and carried as far as Japan and Siberia. There have been famines and wars and floods and volcanoes to contend with since Iceland was settled and one more calamity would not be strange to the island people.

A lonely, God-fearing, fatalistic people, Icelanders believe that come what may there always will be an Iceland, harsh in her jagged peaks, beautiful under her midnight sun, home to the sons of the Vikings.
